Emily's Analysis

Hawthorne Race 1

Post Time 2:40 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

In terms of #1 ARRIEVEDERCCI and #4 DISGUISED DEVIL returning from the 4/3 common race with some changes to make sense in here. The rider change could assertive ARRIVEDERCCI just in terms of changing things up from the pair of TROUBLES+/TROUBLE_S though the rail draw still a hurdle with that pattern; #4 DISGUISED DEVIL moving to an outer post with the experience and showing run on debut (SAVED CLOSE GALLOP+) brings upside though V. Esquivel has made tactical errors on live horses this season and cannot be ignored until proven otherwise.

That could open the race for the new faces: #5 KELLY'S GIRL recorded a solid figure with the juvenile debut. That number could present an threat as is, and even improved on with maturity, though despite taking on open, landed a lower purse though the steady, progressive local works are encouraging. #3 KISSES FOR WEEJ returns from a longer layoff (558-days) and some gaps in works that create some reservations.

Trainer C. Block does many things in horses debuting older runners as in the case of 4yo filly #2 TRINITY'S PRIZE is a smaller sample. Though like many things in this game within that six horse sample, 1 win, 1 place and 1 show and just looking at the IL record (Haw/AP) those runners (4 total) in that IL sample.

Hawthorne Race 2

Post Time 3:05 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

As individuals, a case can be made for all, while looking at the Plot, the race as a whole, a pace makes the race or in this case makes the separation. OptixPLOT suggests a contentious early pace with the Fire rating paired with the honest 34 SpeedRate. This can be seen visually with four of the six runners bunched together in Q1 and above the ParLine – this scenario can assist runners from off the pace and upgrade both of the Q4 Squares, #4 COALMINER'S KITTEN and #1 MYSTIC POWER.

COALMINER'S KITTEN returns from the 4/3 common race won by #6 SUPREMELY at the 5f distance, the added furlong along with the race back from the layoff should assist COALMINER'S KITTEN and looking at the OptixNOTES from the Past 3 Runlines, both runners recording the B OptixGRADE that day.

MYSTIC POWER showed GRIT with the win last August at FAN/FP – a race with a similar $16k purse and 6f distance. They showed improvement closing out the year while picking up another win in October. They return to give up recency from the 173-days away, though based on the ML/public projection the price compensation should be there to support along with the other positive handicapping factors.

Hawthorne Race 3

Post Time 3:30 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

Moving on from R2, looking at the Plot a similar race shape is projected with the Fire Contention and even slightly higher 50 SpeedRate.

#1 FINDAWAY should have the edge of the Q1/front running types when looking at Standard (current form) they present strong finishing ability (Square) compared to the other Q1 rivals. Things change slightly where an upgrade can be given to #5 I'M YOUR CAPTAIN moving to a Q1 Square, that change in Plot position/shape. That change can be further supported by the current form cycle, improving OptixGRADES and most recent Projection with the DROP – today with a lower par than the 4/17 (showed run in spots to move up) race one week ago.

Going back to the overall race shape, those two could find each other as a hurdle late and in that scenario move up the runners from off the pace. #4 ANCIENT MAN the strong Q1 Square finding a similar "every other" form cycle pattern and one that arguably would prefer 6f, today's 5.5f distance might be the better option out of the races so far this season.

#2 CHAMPAGNE MIKE is an in-between type when looking at the Plot as well as the other pieces of the puzzle. They projected to show more early speed last week, the 4/17 race. The WEATHER conditions noted with the rain and wind and the intention could come back into play here with the timing, blinker addition and rider change.

Hawthorne Race 4

Post Time 3:55 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

The Plot in this case with the RedPlot Fit suggests the lack of any advantage or disadvantage in this race shape. Where pace took center stage in handicapping process for the earlier races, in this case other handicapping factors like class, speed and form can be upgraded. Looking at the Past 3 Runlines each horse had the "green or light green" coded speed figures to suggest they are "fast" enough to win this race with speed figures on par, again no strong standout or separation in that category.

When it comes to class, #2 VALIANT WEST checks that box and upgraded from their races last season recording consistently some of the higher figures in the field and competitive despite lacking the win - those races in a higher par, purse and allowance condition. They also have historically shown progression with racing bringing back that pattern to Hawthorne with the improving races this season and throughout March at FON.

#6 T LAW fits on that class front while lacking recency (current form) returning from the 200-day layoff. They have run off a layoff in the past going back to last season, recording one of their highest numbers of the season in a 6f sprint making a strong CLOSE and competitive B- OptixGRADE for the $25k N2 level, something to upgrade the outcome, the 4th place finishing position. They lacked the win during 2024 though again looking more at effort than outcome, they recorded a B (winning effort for the level) OptixGRADE under similar $25k N2 conditions with a higher par in June and overall lacking any "red" when at this level throughout the year and consistent figures that fit on par.

Hawthorne Race 5

Post Time 4:21 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

#1 MANAGING MISCHIEF while on a quick turnaround should not take much out of them on 4/19 at Oaklawn Park given the timing from a 47-day break, class condition and trip behind horses taking KICKBACK all factors playing a role in outcome and could be assessed more as a “workout” all things considered. Class being another factor, throughout the Oaklawn meet showed class weakness in the allowance races and move up with the change in class, par and purse with the 3/3 WRD win, conditions all around similar to today and not a win off type effort they can look to repeat here. Trip should be positive for them looking at the Plot, a Fire Contention though lower 13 SpeedRate to track #2 FRANKEL BABY and #4 BEEHIVE with MANAGING MISSION in position for first run on the Q2/Q4 runners.

#3 SALLY’S SURPRISE also finds a quick turnaround coming back from the 4/16 KEE race, a race with a similar par to today’s event and showed a ton on run, a winning/B effort putting in a strong CLOSE after the SLOG (something of a pattern for them) and recording close to a new figure top in the progress. That could be a challenge to repeat on shorter rest and should be noted and compared in this case as the quick turnaround should be taken in context.

In terms of BEEHIVE she fits off overall form, class, figures for this race. Going back to last year that consistency makes her a player though also showed with racing, speed figure improvement, something to suggest they could benefit from the race starting off the season and their best is yet to come. Stablemate #6 DEVIL has ability in their own right though last season was not quite on the speed figure level of BEEHIVE and another that could ultimately find the race a good starting point on conditioning for the season.

Hawthorne Race 6

Post Time 4:47 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

#7 ROMANAYA has a stronger legitimate favorite look (ML second choice when compared to rival #5 CHEVAL B (weak favorite) one that came up short with a PERFECT trip on 4/13 and not a one-off as they also had a PERFECT trip back on 3/9 at the FG. In terms of ROMANAYA, she projected to move up with the STRETCH (and PREP) from the debut back in November and now finds this distance change as a positive. Current form also is progressive and a positive, despite the 3/22 running line and finishing position, she earned a C+ OptixGRADE. While WARM on the day, showed run making a COVER SAVED MOVE and improved speed figures with the higher par in that TP race last month.

#3 UNKEPT PROMISES has another longshot look coming back for this third start. She might have not quite been race ready mentally and physically on debut very fractious in the GATE and showed some early interest before losing ground (FTQ) in a higher par event on 3/21 at TP. Upgraded off that race, she showed speed figure improvement for the second start despite TRAFFIC and subtle TROUBLE- while also putting in a strong GALLOP+ out to support another move forward along with the distance change.

Keeping with the TP theme, both ROMANAYA and UNKEPT PROMISES hold a class edge over the pair of David Miller fillies #1 COCALINA and #2 DRAMA SPEAKER; two fillies that bring individual upside though in terms of class lack the edge of the other two from the MSW compared to the MCL events,. The December MCL races bring in a similar par and purse to today’s race with the circuit switch. In that case being a lateral move, DRAMA SPEAKER turned in a more competitive race with the number and finishing position on 12/11 making a WIDE MOVE and CLOSE after the TROUBLE_S from the rail, though did have a Fast early pace to run at. She will stretch out today for the first time where the distance experience already siding with COCALINE one that could be given a slight X_FLOW upgrade from the 12/18 start.

Hawthorne Race 7

Post Time 5:13 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

This is a great spot for #1 ROCKET HOTSHOT to return to winning ways. They bring in current form from the racing this year and key class DROP exiting the higher conditioned event from 4/6 with plenty of fitness noting the WIDE trip. In terms of race par, they find a key change, a lower par for the first time in a longtime and change in race shape as well. The Sun Contention paired with the higher 58 SpeedRate, suits their runstyle for today's race shape and historically has had success under similar dynamics. Looking at the Plot, ROCKET HOTSHOT should find pace to chase and first run on #2 DANVILLE with a similar position/shape while finding a lateral change in par coming off the 4/6 win, giving the class edge to ROCKET HOTSHOT in that comparison as well.

Those two with the race designation and contentious Q1 that includes #3 TWO COOKIE RULE, #4 WILDWOOD'S WARRIOR and #7 STINGY on the outside stretching out.

With ROCKET HOTSHOT as a prime contender on pace, class, speed and current form, they provide a strong value alternative to rival and ML favorite, #6 TEMPER TANTRUM one that brings in overall upside from the subtle trip last month at TP (3/12) however lacking an overall edge in today's race shape looking at the Plot and on current form finding closer to a lateral move from the races this year and since coming back from the layoff last October.

Looking at the Plot, TEMPER TANTRUM lands a similar position and shape to #5 FLYING SAMURAI one that should hold longer odds and one that has required racing to find conditioning coming back this year and third start this month. Rather than record work after work, trainer C. Ryan has given them racing as they should continue to improve with the racing and from the X_FLOW last out (4/13) while given the sprint (4/3) as a PREP and STRETCH with the GALLOP+ noted on the day.

Hawthorne Race 8

Post Time 5:39 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

While the SpeedRate is honest, the Sun Contention pairing should further assist #3 KIKI KRAZY in terms of pace to work out a trip as a Q4 Square. The present upside in their current form cycle supported by the Past 3 Runlines and key OptixGRADE progression (C, C+,B-) moving in a forward direction this year and specifically in this third off portion of the cycle and subtle STRETCH in distance. KIKI KRAZY is looking for their first win on the year and capable to land it today while finding the change in class.

#4 SAMARITA fits off prior form, class and speed figures and while she does not hold a strong pace advantage looking at the Plot, she is not compromised in today's race shape to knock on that front. She will give up recency coming off the 112-day layoff, the time to recover was likely needed after a solid campaign and game season starting off with the April win at KEE and battling all through the spring and summer season, competitive races each and every time while noting a legitimate EX – EXCUSE from the 7/28 race.

Both #1 RACEDAY ATTIRE and #2 DIAMONDS JOY already securing that first win of the year and should hold their form no real knocks on that front though in terms of RACEDAY ATTIRE they find a massive step up in race par as a downgrade and DIAMONDS JOY off the PERFECT (red keyword) trip to win on 4/6.

A peak effort could be a race out for both #5 LONG TALL WOMAN and #6 LILY'S CREED returning off layoffs in this particular spot and race shape (Plot) while runners to follow this season. Similar for #7 HIGHWOOD (Q3 Circle) one that likely with the conditioning to use going forward while a bigger hurdle to win off the bench in this spot.

Jim's Picks

Hawthorne Race 1

Post Time 2:40 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

4 Disguised Devil - 9/5 | 2 Trinity's Prize - 7/2 | 5 Kelly's Girl - 9/2

Any of these five can win a competitive opener. Off her last start, 4-DISGUISED DEVIL should take her share of action. She chased a well meant winner in Smoked in her debut and was running on late. She goes a 16th further which can only help her chances. 2-TRINITY'S PRIZE debuts with Lasix for Block. She has put together a consistent work pattern leading to her debut as she was snappy from the gate in her most recent drill. Block has his ready first out and she may provide some value in here. 5-KELLY'S GIRL makes her first start as a three-year-old as she gets Lasix as well. She ran a decent race after a slow start in her first out and has since worked well. She's another that may provide some value.

Hawthorne Race 2

Post Time 3:05 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

4 Coalminer's Kitten - 7/2 | 6 Supremely - 5/2 | 5 Philipsburg [IRE] - 4/1

Another field that is very competitive as the six furlong distance could be the get. Off his last effort, I'll look to 4-COALMINER'S KITTEN in here. He was closing quickly late in his last and was getting to today's likely favorite, Supremely in there. The added eighth can only help today. 6-SUPREMELY was game in victory in his last. He rated well early and ran on late under a fine ride by Murrill. Felix takes the call today and is more than capable in the saddle. 5-PHILIPSBURG (IRE) loves this track, finding the board in five of six Hawthorne starts. This barn has been excellent this meet as this one has been a good claim for trainer Hernandez.

Hawthorne Race 3

Post Time 3:30 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

6 Cupid's War - 3/1 | 1 Findaway - 7/5 | 4 Ancient Man - 5/1

There's pace on the rail with likely favorite Findaway in here as I'm looking to 6-CUPID'S WAR to pull off a slight upset in this spot. I like that despite being claimed from his last, he keeps Roman in the saddle as these two look to be a good fit. 1-FINDAWAY will take action as he has been claimed from his last couple. The fact that he was claimed back by Rivelli is a positive sign as he should show speed and contend the entire way. 4-ANCIENT MAN is back sprinting as this looks to be the spot for him. He ran well at five furlongs two back and will be charging in the lane if there's a pace battle upfront.

Hawthorne Race 4

Post Time 3:55 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

5 Bigfoot Sighting - 5/2 | 2 Valiant West - 8/5 | 4 Papa's Nico Boy - 6/1

Not a ton of pace in this race which should benefit the chances of 5-BIGFOOT SIGHTING. Although his speed has been around two turns, he should be forwardly placed in a bunched up field where the pace will be slow. He has progressed in this last two and I like that he's not asked to do too much in here. 2-VALIANT WELL is well spotted in here off a good effort at Fonner last out. Although winless at Hawthorne, he has found the board in four of six over the track. Look for him to close from the second flight. 4-PAPA'S NICO BOY steps up off a nice victory in his last. That was a game effort in his first start with Lasix. While the figures don't quite match up, this barn is sharp and should show continued improvement.

Hawthorne Race 5

Post Time 4:21 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

1 Managing Mischief - 7/2 4 Beehive - 5/2 6 Devil - 4/1

A good allowance field with a pair along the inside with early speed. I'm hoping Frankel Baby goes and 1-MANAGING MISCHIEF looks to rate just off as that looks to be where she runs best. She has a good win at Will Rogers two back and may benefit from the rail draw. Boyce has two as both 4-BEEHIVE and 6-DEVIL could be factors in here. 4-BEEHIVE has never missed the board in ten Hawthorne starts and comes in off a sharp work. Expect her to tuck in just off the pace and rally in the lane. 6-DEVIL also likes it here at Hawthorne as she may close from a bit further back. The distance suits but with regular rider Centeno aboard Beehive, I move that one up slightly over Devil.

Hawthorne Race 6

Post Time 4:47 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

2 Drama Speaker - 5/1 5 Cheval B - 9/5 7 Romanaya - 5/2

Let's see if we can catch a price in here with 2-DRAMA SPEAKER as she makes her first start as a three-year-old. She gets Lasix in here as she steps back up. Her last race was an excellent effort after a very rough break. If she can get away well in here, there's potential she shows speed and is a factor every step of the way. 5-CHEVAL B ran well on dirt in her last, chasing the entire way. That effort showed that she isn't only a turf horse, but we won't get 8-1 this time out. 7-ROMANAYA comes in for Gutierrez as she's another that stretches out. She improved in her last and is well spotted in here.

Hawthorne Race 7

Post Time 5:13 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

6 Temper Tantrum - 9/5 4 Wildwood's Warrior - 6/1 1 Rocket Hotshot - 9/2

Another spot where there isn't much pace as 6-TEMPER TANTRUM looks to get the job done as the favorite. He has been solid at Hawthorne as the last time he was on the dirt here was in a good third place effort against Stakes runners in 2023. He runs at the bottom now and we will see if anyone goes in for him for $7,500. 4-WILDWOOD'S WARRIOR benefits from the lack of pace as he comes in off a near miss last out. He chased a slow pace in there and just got outnodded at the wire. Look for a very similar trip once again today. 1-ROCKET HOTSHOT drops in class off a solid effort in his last. Double Thunder was a well meant winner in that spot but this one did run on while wide late. Let's see if he sits a bit closer early from the rail draw.

Hawthorne Race 8 - PLAY OF THE DAY

Post Time 5:39 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

2 Diamonds Joy - 5/2 5 Long Tall Woman - 7/2 1 Raceday Attire - 5/1

So many that have been sharp at Hawthorne in here. It was a big number posted by 2-DIAMONDS JOY last out as we will have to see if she repeats that performance or bounces in here. She had a ton left in the tank late last out and should get a very similar trip in here. 5-LONG TALL WOMAN has been good at Hawthorne, hitting the board in 21 of 23 starts over the track. She has some versatility and could sit a bit closer early with these. 1-RACEDAY ATTIRE was a good winner in her last, paying $22 in her 10-1 upset score. She will also likely get a similar trip once again as the distance suits.

Ron's Picks

Hawthorne Race 1

Post Time 2:40 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

2 Trinity's Prize - 7/2 4 Disguised Devil - 9/5 5 Kelly's Girl - 9/2

2-TRINITY'S PRIZE makes her debut. She is one of two four-year-olds in the field. She has been training well for a barn whose runners often win at first asking. 4-DISGUISED DEVIL was no match for the winner in her career debut but she finished 11 lengths ahead of the third-place finisher and that filly came back to win her next start. This one could be much tougher with experience. 5-KELLY GIRL could surprise. She raced competitively last year in her lone start. She was meeting open company in that race. She'll be facing state breds today and doing it with first Lasix.

Hawthorne Race 2

Post Time 3:05 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

6 Supremely - 5/2 4 Coalminer's Kitten - 7/2 5 Philipsburg [IRE] - 4/1 2 Chi Town Hustler - 6/1
3 Whatdoyouthinkmark - 3/1 1 Mystic Power - 8/1

Nice, competitive race. Four of the six seem almost evenly matched and the other two are not without a chance. Have to go with 6-SUPREMELY, however. Not sure what happened after getting claimed by this barn but he's his best in years. Won both races since that claim. He'll have a tough time in this but his best could be good enough. 4-COALMINER'S KITTEN just missed to top pick and he was moving even better at the finish. Plus, he probably has more room to improve since that last race was his first of the year. 5-PHILIPSBURG makes his first start of the year off three good drills. He had an incredible 2024, winning six of 11 races, including four of his last six. Could pick up where he left off. 2-CHI TOWN HUSTLER finished well behind top pick when they met in New Orleans in last but he got claimed from that race but the trainer that did wonders with Supremely after the claim. Maybe lightning strikes twice. 3-WHATDOYOUTHINKMARK tired in an early speed duel in his first start of the meet but he did win his previous two starts. 1-MYSTIC POWER seems a bit overmatched but he can come from back and could benefit if an early speed duel develops.

Hawthorne Race 3

Post Time 3:30 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

1 Findaway - 7/5 3 The Ridge - 4/1 4 Ancient Man - 5/1

1-FINDAWAY seems most likely. This barn lost him via claim two races back in Louisiana but claimed him again from last. Speed figures suggest he's the fastest of these. 3-THE RIDGE racing for the same trainer as top choice, looks like the main competition. He makes his first start of the year but he has been training well. Won his last two races. Could pick up where he left off. 4-ANCIENT MAN is capable of coming on late which could be a valuable trait in this speed-filled race.

Hawthorne Race 4

Post Time 3:55 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

5 Bigfoot Sighting - 5/2 | 2 Valiant West - 8/5 | 4 Papa's Nico Boy - 6/1

5-BIGFOOT SIGHTING is fresh off graduation. He wired the field in that race, much of the way under pressure. Turns back to a long sprint for this. We know he's capable of getting this distance. Could put the rest away and finish with something left. 2-VALIANT WEST has been running well in Nebraska. He just missed as the favorite in last. Takes blinkers off for this try. Not sure how that will affect him but off his recent performances, he does look like the one to beat. 4-PAPA'S NICO BOY just got up to score his maiden win in his local debut. That was also his first start for this barn and his first race outside New York. He is probably the best of the early speed and he finished last like he would be able to handle the extra distance of this race.

Hawthorne Race 5

Post Time 4:21 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

4 Beehive - 5/2 | 6 Devil - 4/1 | 1 Managing Mischief - 7/2 | 2 Frankel Baby - 9/2 | 3 Sally's Suprise - 5/1 | 5 Yamile's - 5/1

Not sure 4-BEEHIVE owns much of an advantage but she has been in the hunt in all of her races, finishing in the money in 11 of 12 while winning three times. She's adaptable and apparently handles any kind of pace. She's been training well for her first start of the year and you know her barn brings them ready. 6-DEVIL. Like her stablemate Beehive, has been a major factor in virtually all of her races. Also, like her stablemate, she is adept on or off the front end. Beehive seems a little faster, at least in the past, but this filly finished her 2024 season with two straight wins. 1-MANAGING RELIEF and 2-FRANKEL BABY seem likely to vie for the lead. Depending on how the track is playing, they might clear the field early and fight to the finish. 3-SALLY'S SURPRISE and 5-YAMILE'S will both be coming late and shouldn't be ignored.

Hawthorne Race 6

Post Time 4:47 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

5 Cheval B - 9/5 | 7 Romanaya - 5/2 | 2 Drama Speaker - 5/1

5-CHEVAL B had a couple good races at Fair Grounds but her best finish came here in her last start. She chased the speed all the way around and held on to finish second. That was her first dirt attempt. Could improve with experience. 7-ROMANAYA ships in for a sharp barn. She's making her second start off the layoff. Had a decent drill since her first start of the year. Would expect her to display better speed with the stretch in distance and there really isn't much other speed in the race. Might lead throughout. 2-DRAMA SPEAKER is an interesting runner. She's jumping in class to make her first start since December and she's had limited drills but she closed a ton after a terrible start. Adds blinkers and gets first Lasix. Could be worth a look.

Hawthorne Race 7

Post Time 5:13 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

1 Rocket Hotshot - 9/2 | 6 Temper Tantrum - 9/5 | 2 Danville - 7/2 | 3 Two Cookie Rule - 8/1 | 4 Wildwood's Warrior - 6/1 | 7 Stingy - 6/1

Competitive race. Almost looks like an "all" race in horizontal wagers. Most of these veterans are versatile so it's hard to figure a pace scenario. But someone has to win. I'll take a flyer with 1-ROCKET HOTSHOT. He has been highly effective here when racing at the right level. So far this year, he has either been in over his head or racing at a tougher venue. This could be his wake-up spot. Obviously anything racing for Larry Rivelli has to be considered. It's been a long time since 6-TEMPER TANTRUM raced on dirt and he wasn't very effective in limited tries. But he did win two of three at Turfway this year and his last dull start might only be an aberration. 7-STINGY is another sleeper. He won his first start for this barn but followed it with a dismal effort, beating only one in a 12-horse field. But, he's adding blinkers for this and stretching out. Runners from this barn going from sprints to two turns with about 26% of the time. 2-DANVILLE won his last start versus similar and has a proven love for this track and this distance. Both 3-TWO COOKIE RULE and 4-WILDWOOD'S WARRIOR are coming off second-place finishes and both can improve in their second start of the year.

Hawthorne Race 8

Post Time 5:39 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

3 Kiki Krazy - 3/1 2 Diamonds Joy - 5/2 4 Samarita - 6/1

3-KIKI’S CRAZY drops from allowance company. She just finished second (dead heat) to a very tough Adora. Think she is probably better going long but there should be sufficient pace in this race to set up for her late run. 2-DIAMONDS JOY won three of her last four races while climbing the claiming ladder and her last was her most impressive win yet. She does look like the quickest of these. If not pressured early she can lead all the way. 4-SAMARITA figures prominently. She was in too deep in her first start of the year in New Orleans but she thrived last year in company similar to this in the past, racing well here as well as in Kentucky. Barn is off to a red-hot start. Don’t ignore
