Santa Anita Race 1

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

#13 BELLY UP is sitting on the AE and given a mention as he makes his second start off the layoff and based on the 9/10 DMR visuals, he seemed to need a start off the bench.

Couple of longshots that can surprise and get into the mix: #2 BRAVESTRONG should improve returning from the 9/2 race against the track profile; #9 ALPINE THUNDER carries some buried form, a passive ride last out at LRC and a return to the turf.

#1 LORD TRIPPING unfortunately lived up to his name taking a legit stumble out of the gate last out at DMR losing their race right as it started. Going into that 8/27 event, he had a look upgraded with the much required class DROP and that similar upgrade comes into play against as he is back under the right MCL conditions for his abilities.
