Emily's Analysis

Hawthorne Race 1

Post Time 2:40 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

A compact competitive group to kick off the card. There are challenges with this race while all are capable given the shorter 5f distance and many returning from layoffs. #4 YO DAWG presents value could be a fourth choice in this race and fits today's conditions. They have experience with the shorter sprint distance and at Hawthorne with success off previous longer layoffs. The rider change to I. Hernandez is a further positive for trainer J. Berndt – overall live jockey/trainer combination and at Hawthorne since 2020 show a positive $.043 ROI with 12.5% winners and 56% ITM.

Trip for YO DAWG could also be key to stalk and pounce as #1 I AM LOWKEY could be forced to send from the inside one that often breaks a step slog before RUSH and while #2 GAVEL has shown they can rate from off the pace when it comes to the dirt and where they are drawn in this field and distance could see D. Cohen use for position. Those two likely joined by #5 STRANGE ARRANGE outside and one that brings in natural early speed.

Hawthorne Race 2

Post Time 3:05 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

Another competitive race and looking at the OptixPLOT () pace should make the race and perhaps help assess the contenders from a race shape standpoint. The "Fire" Contention is paired with the higher 50 SpeedRate – visually represented by more than half of the field to the left of the y-axis as well as above the ParLine. That includes #1 ACCELERATING BABE and #2 SHE'S INTHEARMYNOW (and #6 SISTER SWEDE weaker on second call positional speed from Q3) as Circles – weaker finishing ability to Squares and especially with the presence of Q1 Square #4 DIAMONDS JOY.

That Fire/SpeedRate should assist #3 DESSERT FIRST with a tracking trip while also bringing in some recency (45 days) from the Oaklawn meet for live connections, E. Lopez starting off strong in the opening days. #5 FAST N HAPPY while a Surface/Distance Circle can be upgraded on Standard (current form) as a Square and capable with today's race shape and overall conditions returning to Hawthorne. Arguably, the 5.5f distance is shorter than her ideal, though with today's dynamic and price compensation she can be upgraded as value.

Hawthorne Race 3

Post Time 3:30 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

#4 OLIVERIO can be upgraded finding sneaky class relief. Their two starts out at the FG recorded a much higher race par than the events others in the field exit. OLIVERIO will need to step up though if there is a time and place this would be it. C. Roman takes over as another further positive with a small sample of races pairing up with 38% win (including Cupid's War on opening day) and 61% ITM with a positive ROI.

Sticking with the OptixPLOT theme, #5 BIGFOOT SIGHTING could present a pace advantage (Q1 Square) in today's field. At the same time, they fit with the current form cycle making a second start of the meet a projected STRETCH in distance from the 3/30 sprint as shown with the OptixNOTES in the Past 3 Runlines.

E. Lopez will also return with #6 JUSTAWALKINTHEPARK (Q4 Square) looks to come closing late, the trip and race shape was odd on the FG Turf last month and not asked late. There has been intent to run on the TURF and perhaps worth another look on the surface, though other visuals is a router and now has the benefit of a race in the blinkers, a fairly full cup addition last out.

Hawthorne Race 4

Post Time 3:55 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

#1 MISTER CHARMING should be set up for an improved effort with the STRETCH out in distance for this second start back off the layoff. They return under similar conditions from where they have been competitive in the past and while winless during the 2024 season, today's par is lower than the bulk of those races to move up this time around. Overall they were consistent, recorded speed figures on par and even a winning/B OptixGRADE effort back in June.

Trip could be key here with the complexion of this race and par for MISTER CHARMING. With the rail draw, they could sit an inside tracking trip, looking at the Surface/Distance Plot, should be able to save ground behind projected pacesetters - #3 MIDNIGHT BLUE NOTE and #5 TWO COOKIE RULE. The first run trip will be key with #2 DANVILLE looking for a similar run and similar form cycle pattern wheeling back from the races in this current cycle including the B- TRAFFIC trip here last Sunday.

Hawthorne Race 5

Post Time 4:21 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

#6 RAMESSES is logical as the favorite; looking at OptixPLOT their runstyle (Large Square) fits today's race shape (Above) and also Above on Speed with Class as a lateral change. They appear well-intended coming back in this second start off the layoff with the key changes in terms of class, distance and rider with O. Hernandez taking over – positive ROI and key change with the quick turnaround, a near perfect record of horses in the money (no Red) at Hawthorne.

Sticking with the Plot, #2 BLACK RUSSIAN could also finally land themselves in the right time, place and trip. While they will give up recency from the 199-day layoff the races from prior seasons stack up with today's group and value should hold to counter the reservations. Stablemate #5 MONEY AGENT also should come back at the right level to compete and buried form. Their two starts at this level surface and distance from last April stand out as some of the higher numbers and has been able to run well fresh and show runstyle versatility – an X_FLOW upgrade closing out 2024 on 10/6.

#3 MALIBU FINALE has the edge over many wheeling back in a week for the second start and a game effort where they projected to move up returning from the juvenile campaign as a 3yo. While they did take a step forward and solid effort (B) on the day the race could be physically taxing. They raced every step of the 5f way and took contact late; the TROUBLE- did not appear to impact the outcome, however still physical as they wheel back in a week.

Some value concerns follow #1 WAYLLEN RICHARD one that should move up naturally with the class and circuit switch (Class Above) and numbers on par for this race. That said, they have shown the pattern of gate/SLOG issues and overall must step up where shorter odds appear in play.

#4 RAYFIELD has the benefit of live connections M. Murrill/E. Rodriguez in their corner coming back to Hawthorne. Last season they did catch a higher par for the majority of those races, though no real excuse in November though perhaps some upside with the slight FG improvement and near excuse (no grade) in the 2/17 race while WIDE and NO_PUSH with the open length and next out winner, Skip The Line with the field spaced out at the wire.

Hawthorne Race 6

Post Time 4:47 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

This is a solid and classy group with three stakes winners. #2 UNCASHED is the lone graded stakes winner with the Quik Call (G3) in a race taken off the turf at SAR in 2023 though has validated that form since. Returning this year they were able to show up with two big efforts pairing up speed figures and winning in January off the layoff. Perhaps some excuses followed with the timing, a two week turnaround for the Keener and gate issues (RUSH) following in both the February and March events. Again, they will find a quick turnaround though a different pattern of form cycle timing, closer to a second off starting a new cycle than wheeling back from a top. With that said, if they are not returning to a top effort here, those three recent efforts will not factor as a contender.

Stablemate #5 GOLDEN HORNET makes their return off the layoff with main rider J. Loveberry aboard – the pair three-for-four getting their picture taken with two of those at Hawthorne under similar par and condition to today's race. Even looking to pick up where they left off in an abbreviated 2024 campaign following the 3/30 win.

With the L. Rivelli runners bringing in early speed that could make things tougher on trip for #1 FIVE O" SOMEWHERE with the rail giving back off the layoff perhaps forced to use for position and similar for #4 GUANARE as the stablemate GOLDEN HORNET and UNCASHED are unlikely to "duel" forcing those others to chase and push in order to compete and apply pace pressure.

While a scenario does exist in the case those horses are ridden to contest the early lead for #7 CORTESE to come from off the pace. Their form fits at this higher level keying off the races last season as well as what could be taken as a lateral move and flow upgrade from the FG races to compete here. The shorter 5.5f distance is likely shorter than their ideal (6f) and would require a lot of racing luck on the win end.

Hawthorne Race 7

Post Time 5:13 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

#5 STRONGER TOGETHER might not appear to hold a pace advantage "on paper" though looking at the Plot a different picture to upgrade in this race. They, like others in this field will return off the layoff, though also a reclaim for trainer J. Campbell, a barn that had this runner in form last March at TAM including their most recent win.

While there is a scenario where STRONGER TOGETHER could make the lead and position themselves on the front end, that is not often their most effective runstyle and could still track forward with first run.

The lack of a true E or EP runstyle horse could see #2 SIXWILLBERICH gunning to the lead and one that broke their maiden on the lead last June at CD. That day they did take some pace pressure, though was still able to race Slow early and Average late. #3 SEMINOLE BEACH also one that could be intended for the lead as they return today from the layoff and route distance. Going back to last season, they showed early speed coming off the bench (3/31/24) at this level before fading and improved off the race, second off with the sprint cutback.

#1 DOUBLE THUNDER could also be looking for that forward position as they have shown tactical speed in the past. DOUBLE THUNDER found their peak form here last season though the long campaign started to catch up with them late and returning from a slight freshening here and with a rider change that could be a sign they still could be a race out.

#6 CODE RUNNER gives up recency and perhaps that is the prime reservation as a race horse they fit as a contender here with plenty of races throughout their career on par. They caught a similar par with the open $10k win last September though that effort second off and did catch a lower par winning in July – that race off a layoff though 81-days compared to the 155-day break here though was a similar type purse and Colon, today's rider aboard.

Both #4 ICE AXE and #7 ROCKET HOTSHOT bring in recency and solid Hawthorne form; however in terms of class they could be tested in this spot, a higher par and purse from previous races where they have been able to compete and win.

Hawthorne Race 8

Post Time 5:39 PM CST

Analysis by Emily Gullikson

The change in class and circuit along with the race shape should find the right conditions for #9 VEGAS CONDO to move up and look for the maiden win. She held her form and speed figures out in California earlier last year just not quite on the class level, where the DROP was projected. Following that series of races, she has had the layoffs and placement with the turf sprint at DMR and less than ideal journey and trip as well as her day (physically + front wrap addition) back on 2/17 to suggest she can move up off that race and even running back to the figure would have her on today's par as a contender.

As noted the early pace should be honest and in par to the pair of Rivelli fillies as #8 SPINNING GLORY showed early speed in both starts this season at Turfway and could even see #2 MARY MOONGLOW show early speed noting the June debut had TROUBLE_S before making a RUSH suggesting they were looking for the lead and with a sharp break could do so this time around.

Along the rail, #1 RACQUEL BLUE ran a big race on debut back on 12/22 at Oaklawn showing early speed, though in terms of class found herself in deep on the win end that day and during the season. The change in circuit should assist as well as the timing given a reset of 57-days coming back in here, those first three starts back-to-back perhaps lacking the crucial recovery.

#10 LA REYNITA also brings in upside off her races to date and coming back to the sprint/one turn distance. She showed run on debut; broke SLOG made a MOVE and visuals to suggest she can IMPROVE. The SLOG and TROUBLE_S carried in the second start with the move to the turf, though still showing run making a WIDE MOVE something tougher to see on just the running line and finishing position alone. The route last month while chasing a Fast early pace should provide key fitness coming back today and moving over to this circuit with M. Murrill back aboard.

#6 UNKEPT PROMISES is worth a mention wheeling right back for a second start noting she was very fractious in the GATE just 16-days ago and the connections already with a repeat winner (Spinning Pride) coming out of Turfway winning here at Hawthorne on Thursday for this owner could be intent all around (the two showing similar workout dates and times, perhaps working together?) and more to show in just a second career start.

Jim's Picks

Hawthorne Race 1

Post Time 2:40 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

5 Strange Arrange - 7/5 | 4 Yo Dawg - 7/2 | 2 Gavel - 5/2

A race that is often tough to fill, we get a really solid field at this level to open the Sunday card. Giving the nod to 5-STRANGE ARRANGE as he has speed, loves this track and shouldn't have much company early. Everything lines up for a solid performance. 4-YO DAWG is another that has run well at Hawthorne as he has three works leading into his 2025 debut. Although winless at this distance, he has found the money in seven of nine starts and should be running on late. 2-GAVEL has enough speed to chase early. He may be the most fit coming into here as he has trained or raced through the winter. Cohen has won aboard him in the past and is back up once again.

Hawthorne Race 2

Post Time 3:05 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

1 Accelerating Babe - 7/2 | 2 She's Inthearmynow - 5/2 | 4 Diamonds Joy - 3/1

With the hope of a contested pace early, we will take a shot at a bit of an upset in here and look to 1-ACCELERATING BABE on top. She has run second in all three Hawthorne starts and comes in off a pair of good Oaklawn starts. With the two favorites potentially battling early, she could rate and run by late. 2-SHE'S INTHEARMYNOW has speed and will have to go from the inside draw. She was a good winner in New Orleans in her last and figures to contend every step of the way. 4-DIAMONDS JOY runs for the hot Rodriguez barn. She steps up a bit off her recent starts and tends to dig in when challenged. She likes this track and just needs to avoid a pace battle early.

Hawthorne Race 3

Post Time 3:30 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

5 Bigfoot Sighting - 8/5 | 2 Missed Option - 6/1 | 6 Justawalkinthepark - 2/1

Maidens go two turns in a race that doesn't have a ton of pace. Thinking the favorite, 5-BIGFOOT SIGHTING will be the one to beat as he has run well at two turns and figures to cruise on the front end. Murrill and Rodriguez are off to great starts this meet and should keep that trend going in here. 2-MISSED OPTION could be the price play as he comes out of a pair of tough races at Oaklawn to open his career. Let's see if he gets away well early and can show some speed. 6-JUSTAWALKINTHEPARK ran a figure that will be tough to beat in a race that was taken off the turf three back. He hasn't been able to quite repeat that performance in his last two starts but the barn is off to a good start and he should be running on late.

Hawthorne Race 4

Post Time 3:55 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

2 Danville - 9/5 | 3 Midnight Blue Note - 7/2 | 1 Mister Charming - 5/1

Route runners as fitness will be the key in here. With a race under his belt, 2-DANVILLE returns quickly but should be tough on the return. He should be in a good stalking spot in here and looking to catch the pace of Midnight Blue Note late. If he can slow things down early, 3-MIDNIGHT BLUE NOTE should be able to set slow early fractions and may have enough to hang around late. He likes this track and has managed to get in four workouts leading to his return. 1-MISTER CHARMING sprinted here last week and likely needed that start. He's better around two turns and has the potential to pick off some runners late.

Hawthorne Race 5

Post Time 4:21 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

3 Malibu Finale - 7/2 | 6 Ramesses - 9/5 | 1 Wayllen Richard - 5/2

Bottom level maidens go two turns. 3-MALIBU FINALE ran well while sprinting here last week. He chased and ran on late in that spot and now stretches out today. With Money Agent being the only pace in here, and likely needing a race, Malibu Finale should be able to stalk the early pace and take over into the lane. 6-RAMESSES also ran well here last week as he figures to improve on the stretch. He drops in class and looks to take a good amount of action. 1-WAYLLEN RICHARD ran a good race around two turns in his last. He draws the rail for solid connections and may look to show more early speed.

Hawthorne Race 6

Post Time 4:47 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

5 Golden Hornet - 9/5 | 6 It's Bobs Business - 6/1 | 7 Cortese - 9/2

A really solid allowance field of sprinters with a couple with early speed. Thinking 5-GOLDEN HORNET is going to be the fastest of all as he makes his return to the races after a year. He has worked consistently and gets Loveberry back in the saddle. 6-IT'S BOBS BUSINESS is the other with speed who also comes back off a rest. He has worked consistently as well and may eventually head to the grass but he still merits a look in this dirt sprint. 7-CORTESE has run well at Hawthorne as he comes back in from New Orleans for this start. He was a smart claim for $10k three back and should be competitive for four times that amount today.

Hawthorne Race 7

Post Time 5:13 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

7 Rocket Hotshot - 9/2 | 1 Double Thunder - 5/2 | 2 Sixwillberich - 4/1

Looking for a slight upset in here as I'm hoping there's enough pace for 7-ROCKET HOTSHOT to chase. He likes this Hawthorne strip and is fit off his Fair Grounds races. 1-DOUBLE THUNDER has enough speed to get into the mix as he should take advantage of the rail draw. He has run 1st or 2nd in all six Hawthorne starts as he figures to be the likely favorite. 2-SIXWILLBERICH has been popular at the claim box, being claimed in each of his last four starts. He runs protected today which is a positive sign as he could look to rate closer early today.

Hawthorne Race 8 - PLAY OF THE DAY

Post Time 5:39 PM CST

Analysis by Jim Miller

9 Vegas Condo - 3/1 | 8 Spinning Glory - 5/2 | 1 Racquel Blue - 8/1

A solid field of maidens close out the racing day. Looking to 9-VEGAS CONDO on top as she shortens up off a route effort at Oaklawn in her last where she split the field. She has some solid dirt sprints and looks fit and ready today. 8-SPINNING GLORY will be winging it for the lead as she has run well in a pair of races on the polytrack. She may have to work a bit to shake Racquel Blue but if she can do so she may never look back. 1-RACQUEL BLUE also has speed as she comes in off three Oaklawn starts. She's going to need to avoid the pace battle early but can't be dismissed at a price.

Ron's Picks

Hawthorne Race 1

Post Time 2:40 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

5 Strange Arrange - 7/5 | 2 Gavel - 5/2 | 1 I Am Lowkey - 6/1

5-STRANGE ARRANGE looks tough. He's had eight local starts and finished first or second in six of them. He's making his first start of the year but four solid drills should have him ready to roll. 2-GAVEL could offer some competition. He tired in last at Tampa but he's been in the thick of things in many of his races and he seems equally adept on the front end or coming from out of it. 1-I AM LOWKEY is a pretty quick Iowa bred. His works are sufficient. He might be able to steal this on the lead.

Hawthorne Race 2

Post Time 3:05 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

3 Dessert First - 9/2 | 2 She's Inthearmynow - 5/2 | 1 Accelerating Babe - 7/2 | 4 Diamonds Joy - 3/1

Interesting race. Not in love with any in here but going to take a chance with 3-DESSERT FIRST. Speed was having a tough go of it on Thursday and runners coming from off the pace reigned supreme. Dessert First is a pretty good closer in a race filled with runners that want the lead. He might be able to fly by late. 2-SHESINTHEARMYNOW and 1-ACCELERATING BABE might wind up in a speed duel. Shesinthearmynow could be a bit quicker but Accelerating Babe won't let her have a breather. And 4-DIAMOND'S JOY could easily join the early action.

Hawthorne Race 3

Post Time 3:30 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

5 Bigfoot Sighting - 8/5 | 2 Missed Option - 6/1 | 1 Cutlass King - 9/2

5-BIGFOOT SIGHTING stretches back out. He finished fourth in his local debut but he just doesn't possess the kind of speed necessary for short sprints. But with the stretch out, he should be among the early leaders and just might turn out to be the quickest of these. 2-MISSED OPTION, like most in here, ships in. He hasn't shown a thing in two races but both were sprints on synthetic. But he popped a noteworthy four-furlong drill here a couple weeks ago. Maybe the switch in surfaces and the stretch out will suit him better. 1-CUTLASS KING will probably try for the lead. He finished third, on turf, here last year in his lone local appearance and he led much of the way in that race. Shipping back in from a tougher circuit helps his chances.

Hawthorne Race 4

Post Time 3:55 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

3 Midnight Blue Note - 7/2 | 5 Two Cookie Rule - 3/1 | 2 Danville - 9/5 | 1 Mister Charming - 5/1

Twelve-year-old 3-MIDNIGHT BLUE NOTE could have the edge. He's racing for the first time since September but had four useful drills in preparation for his return to racing. Not sure if he'll be sent right after the lead but he has only one rival, Two Cookie Rule, likely to challenge him for the front end. 5-TWO COOKIE RULE doesn't always try for the lead but he could be the quickest to get there if sent right from the gate. 2-DANVILLE and 1-MISTER CHARMING will be coming late. Danville just finished third in similar while Mister Charming turned up with a short sprint and now stretches to his best distance.

Hawthorne Race 5

Post Time 4:21 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

1 Wayllen Richard - 5/2 | 3 Malibu Finale - 7/2 | 6 Ramesses - 9/5 | 5 Money Agent - 6/1

1-WAYLLEN RICHARD hasn't shown much so far but he's dropping a few levels and shipping from a tougher meet. Had four workouts since his last race in Louisiana. Looks ready for these. 3-MALIBU FINALE just missed in his first start of the year. All three of his races so far have been sprints but he is bred to go long and his barn sports a 30% win average with horses stretching out. 6-RAMESSES finished third to better in his first start of the meet. That was the first time in 11 races that he sprinted. Stretches out to what is probably a better distance for him while dropping to his lowest claiming level ever. Should be a major player. 5-MONEY AGENT tends to tire and he's making his first start of the year off only one published drill but he does appear to hold a considerable speed advantage and he'll be utilizing a rider that won with five of his first 11 mounts at the meet.

Hawthorne Race 6

Post Time 4:47 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

2 Uncashed - 5/2 | 5 Golden Hornet - 9/5 | 4 Guanare - 6/1 | 3 Global Empire - 12/1

This race is filled with speed but the quickest two members of the field race for the same barn so you have to wonder if they will both race. But they do have different owners so we'll see. 2-UNCASHED, a multiple stakes winner, adds blinkers. He had only one race last year, in December, and won his first start of 2025, but has done little since. Maybe the blinkers will get him back on track. Stablemate 5-GOLDEN HORNET is probably just as quick. But it's been almost exactly a year since he raced. His works say he's ready but not sure he's ready to put away the rest of the speed. 4-GUANARE, another former stakes winner, has been in terrible form but his recent races were on synthetic and he really didn't seem to like it. It should be noted, however, that two of his three career victories came on off tracks. 3-GLOBAL EMPIRE is likely to be relatively ignored but the early pace of this race will probably be furious and he's the best closer in the race.

Hawthorne Race 7

Post Time 5:13 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

1 Double Thunder - 5/2 | 6 Code Runner - 7/2 | 2 Sixwillberich - 4/1

1-DOUBLE THUNDER is the pick but it is a slim pick. I'll ignore his last couple at Turfway; a lot of runners just don't like synthetic surfaces. He always raced well here but he has had a bad case of seconditis. He won only one of his six races at the distance while finishing second five times. He's adept and runs well with any kind of pace scenario but just not convinced that he wants to win here. 6-CODE RUNNER finishes fast. He won two of his three races here last year but was seriously overmatched in the other. 2-SIXWILLBERICH has been in competitive form at Turfway but he has raced well on dirt in the past. He was claimed from third-place finish in last. He's still eligible for a non-winners of three but he has generated speed figures at times that suggest he could be competitive with this group.

Hawthorne Race 8

Post Time 5:39 PM CST

Analysis by Ron Uchman

9 Vegas Condo - 3/1 | 8 Spinning Glory - 5/2 | 1 Racquel Blue - 8/1 | 2 Mary Moonglow - 6/1

9-VEGAS CONDO meets her easiest field ever. She has never done better than splitting a field but that should be a distant memory now that she's on this easier circuit. 8-SPINNING GLORY might be the quickest of these. She tired late in her two previous races but both were on synthetic and both were at six furlongs. With the cutback in distance and the move to dirt, she might not be headed. 1-RACQUEL BLUE possesses dangerous speed. Oaklawn shipper tired in all of her races but she was probably meeting far tougher rivals. 2-MARY MOONGLOW, stablemate of Spinning Glory finished second in her lone start. That race took place last June. But she has been training well and she'll be racing with first Lasix today. Would expect her to be a major player.

BEAUMONT STAKES (G2) :

#5 STUNNER could present a pace advantage (Q1) on the front end and in this race shape. She showed ability on debut finishing with a strong 85 OptixFIG and B OptixGRADE in a STRONG MSW event at SAR. She validated that effort doming back on 9/26 with a dominant B+ OptixGRADE showing early speed and paired that up with the Tempted Stakes win. The early speed she has shown in her career has been most effective at the one turn distance (SHORTER on 11/30) and upgraded X_FLOW returning from the Forward Gal (G3) back in February at GP.
