#5 I'M TENACIOUS fits as well as any in this field on class and speed figures. They make their second start off the layoff with a slight rise in class though has run under similar conditions/par in the past competitively. The key change here is distance; they require added ground while could even handle longer than 7f the additional panel is still welcome.

Other than getting detached from the field in the 4/27 return, #4 MISTY EYED has shown run and competitive numbers in each of their starts and moves up naturally on the class drop here - a lower par today than the other races to date. Their form extends back to the debut with a BTL effort with slight number improvement in the 2024 Nov finale. As far as the other races this season, the IMPROVE was projected on 5/10 and followed up with with a TACTIC- NO PUSH and GALLOP+ (following a SLOG) playing a role in the 5/31 outcome.

#5 BONITA MUNDO brings in upside with the PREP second off the layoff and form from last season as a juvenile to project a new top today. In addition to the conditioning, the second off pattern has been shown going back to an improved second start and closing out "every other" with the maiden win in November closing out 2024. She has yet to try the turf though noting intent for the second start and is proven at the 6.5f distance.
